D/B Comments

The NIS are published in a loose-leaf system. The NIS sections are held together by two staples to keep the pages intact in shipment and use, but the staples are designed for ready removal in the event individual pages or maps need be inserted.

The NIS preliminary Gazetteers were not in loose-leaf format because their preliminary status did not warrant the extra cost and labor of loose-leaf binding. Arrangements were made last summer with the Office of Logistics to develop a heavier binding and loose-leaf format for the final NIS Gazetteers. Since that time all NIS Gazetteers have been published in loose-leaf form.

Recommended Action: Suggestion already in affect with respect to NIS publications, and no part of suggestion makes added contribution.
